

RampRep Demo Layout and Media Completion Report

Branch: feat/fix-demo-layout-complete-media

Prepared: 2026-06-24

Repository: KevinHegg/ramprep

Live app: <https://kevinhegg.github.io/ramprep/>

Summary

- ExerciseDemoView now uses a full-height grid: header, scrollable content, footer.
- Footer source links were removed; source links live in Source, while video Watch keeps Open in YouTube/Open video.
- Watch, Read, Checklist, How, and Needs review are distinct behaviors across Library and active workout surfaces.
- Default visible items now have video, article, or local checklist coverage.
- Added source validation, audit script, media matrix data, Advanced QA screen, and tests.

Layout Diagnosis

The old 90/90 flow put article/source content in a large card above the tabs and repeated source actions in the footer. On iPhone widths this crowded the screen and made the sticky footer feel like it covered useful text. The new tab-owned layout keeps media in Watch, source facts in Source, and footer actions limited to Log this and Back.

Before Reference and After Screenshots

Before reference from the prior build: 90/90 used a heavier top source-card pattern.

After: 90/90 Do tab at 390x844. No Watch tab, no top source card, readable coaching copy.

After: 90/90 Source tab. Exact Rehab Hero link appears only in Source; footer remains Log this and Back.

After: 90/90 Source tab at 430x932 with no horizontal overflow.

Before reference from the prior live app: Library/demo area felt unfinished and cluttered.

After: default Library uses Watch, Read, and Checklist actions instead of Demo Needed primary actions.

After: dead bug Watch tab with a real YouTube iframe and exact Open in YouTube link.

After: hydration ruck walk uses Checklist behavior, not Watch or Demo Needed.

After: More > Advanced edit mode > Media coverage QA matrix.
